

Q1 What do you understand by trust and respect?

Ans Trust and respect are two important values that help build strong & positive relationships.

Trust means believing in someone's honesty, reliability, and good intentions. When you trust a person you feel safe with them, knowing they will not betray you or let you down. Trust takes time to build but can be lost quickly if broken.

Respect means valuing & treating others with kindness, fairness & consideration. It means listening to others, appreciating their feelings, and accepting differences. Respect is shown through good manners, honesty, & treating others the way we wished to be treated.

value in

Q2 Explain the ^{value in} human-human relationship.

Ans Values in human-human relationships include trust, respect, empathy, love, care & understanding. These values foster meaningful connections, mutual growth, and cooperation and emotional well-being, harmony in society. They will ensure ethical growth, and cooperation and emotional well-being, enabling in dignity, honesty and compassion in personal and professional interactions.

Assignment - 3Unit 2

Q1. What do you understand by trust and respect?

Trust and respect are two important values that help build strong & positive relationships.

Trust means believing in someone's honesty, reliability, and good intentions. When you trust a person you feel safe with them, knowing they will not betray you or let you down. Trust takes time to build but can be lost quickly if broken.

Respect means valuing & treating others with kindness, fairness & consideration. It means listening to others, appreciating their feelings, and accepting differences. Respect is shown through good manners, honesty, & treating others the way we wished to be treated.

Q2. Explain the ^{value in} human-human relationship.
Values in human-human relationships include trust, respect, empathy, love, care & understanding. These values foster meaningful connections, mutual growth, and cooperation and emotional well-being, harmony in society. They will ensure ethical growth, and cooperation and emotional well-being, enabling in dignity, honesty and compassion in personal and professional interactions.

Date: / /

Q3 What is Ubhay tupti?

Ans Ubhay tupti - Mutual satisfaction, or contentment for both parties in an interaction or agreement. It emphasizes that a decision, action, or relationship should be beneficial and fulfilling for everyone involved, not just one side. This concept fosters balanced relationships, reducing conflicts & promoting cooperation, leading to long-term happiness & ethical social living.

Q4 What is intention & competence?

Ans Intention refers to a person's purpose, goal or mindset behind an action. It is the reason why someone does something. A good intention means the person genuinely wants to do the right thing while a bad intention means they are acting selfishly or dishonestly.

Competence refers to a person's ability, skills or knowledge to perform a task successfully. Even if someone has good intentions, they must also have the necessary competence to achieve the desired result effectively. True competence balances technical expertise with moral integrity for holistic personal & professional success.

Q5. Write the universal order from family to world family?

Ans. The universal order in human values begins with the family, where trust, love and care nurture individuals. It extends to the society, fostering cooperation, justice, and mutual respect. At the nation level, ethical governance and cultural harmony ensure collective well-being. Finally, at the world family (Vasudhaiva Kutumbhakam) level, universal harmony, sustainable development, and peace guide humanity. This order promotes interconnections, connectedness, ensuring that relationships at all level are based on trust, respect and ~~share~~ shared prosperity for a better world.

Q6. Define undivided society?

Ans. An undivided society is a community or nation where people live in harmony, unity & mutual respect, without discrimination, division, or conflict based on religion, caste, race, gender, or, wealth.

Key features -

- (i) Equality - Everyone is treated fairly, with no discrimination.
- (ii) Respect for Diversity - Different cultures, beliefs & traditions are valued.

Date: / /

(3) Mutual trust & Cooperation :- People work together for the common good.

(4) Peace & non-violence :- Conflicts are resolved through dialogue, not force.

(5) Shared prosperity :- Resources & opportunities are accessible to all.

An undivided society fosters peace, progress and happiness for all its members. It ensures that no one feels left out, and everyone can contribute to the growth of the community.

②/4 ✓

Assignment - 4

Q1 Define order of Nature?

Ans Order of nature refers to the natural arrangement or regular pattern in which events or phenomena occurs. It reflects the idea that nature operates in a consistent, predictable way. There are four order of nature -
(i) Plant (ii) Animal (iii) Human being (iv) Material.

Q2 What do you understand by unit & space?

Ans Unit - A standard quantity used to measure physical quantities (ex. meter of length, kilogram for mass)

Space - The three-dimensional expanse in which all objects & event occurs & have position & direction. It includes length, width, height.

Q3 Explain the interconnectedness between nature of order & their recyclability & self regulation?

Ans Order of nature & refers to the predictable balanced way natural systems function.

Recyclability in nature means resources (like water, carbon, nutrients) are reused through natural cycles (e.g. water cycle, carbon cycle)

Self regulation means nature maintains balance through feedback mechanisms (e.g. population control, climate change)

Date: / /

Interconnection - The order of nature ensures that material & energy flow in cycles (recyclability), while self-regulation maintains stability & prevents collapse. Together, they allow ecosystems to sustain life & recover from disturbance naturally.

Q 4 Describe the existence & co-existence in terms of nature of existence.

Ans Existence means that everything that is, exists in space & time - whether it's living or non-living.

Co-existence - means all entities in nature exist together in a mutually dependent & harmonious way.

In terms of Nature -

All element of nature - air, water, plants, animals, humans - exists and interact with one another.

Co-existence reflects the interconnectedness & balance in the ecosystem, where no entity survives in complete isolation.

Nature works in an organized & balanced way. When we understand & respect this, we move towards sustainable living & environmental harmony. Existence show everything has a place, and co-existence show that everything is connected.

5 Describe the holistic perception of harmony in all levels of existence.

The Holistic perception means understanding that everything in existence is interconnected. Harmony must be seen to maintain at every level. From the individual to the entire nature. Here's a breakdown-

(i) Individual level (Self-Harmony)

- Harmony within oneself - between thoughts, emotions and actions.
- Leads to peace, clarity and right decision-making.

(ii) Family-level -

- Harmony through trust, respect and mutual understanding.
- Each member supports and cares for one another.

(iii) Society level

- Living in a way that promotes justice, cooperation & peaceful co-existence.
- No exploitation or discrimination.

(iv) Nature Level

- Recognizing that humans are parts of nature, not separate from it.
- Living in balance with air, water, plants, animals & using resources responsibly.

(v) Existence as a whole -

- All units of existence - material & conscious - exist in co-existence & mutual fulfillment.
- Nothing is isolated, everything supports the whole.