

One Word Substitutions

Solutions:

One who can write with both hands: Ambidextrous

One who has done two marriages: Bigamist

One who knows everything: Omniscient

One who is present everywhere: Omnipresent

One who loves books: Bibliophile

The science of words: Etymology

To kill: Assassinate

One who hates marriage: Misogamist

One who bets on horse races: Punter

A person who knows many languages: Polyglot

The remedy for every disease: Panacea

A form of government without a monarchy in which the supreme power is called: Republic

The want of government in a country: Anarchy

One who believes in God: Theist Opposite -Atheist